He always helps me with my homework and teaches me new things. He wakes up early every day because he is very punctual. My mom is beautiful and of medium height. She is cheerful, polite, and always kind to everyone. She never likes to be late for anything, and she always reminds us to be on time. She loves cooking, and her food is always delicious. She is also very friendly and talkative. She can talk to anyone, and she always makes new friends easily.

My little brother, Tom, is short and plump. He is only seven years old, and he is very energetic. He is a bit stubborn and sometimes selfish because he doesn't like to share his toys. But he can be funny too! He always makes silly faces to make me laugh. Sometimes, he is noisy, especially when he is playing with his toy cars. He also loves watching cartoons, and he laughs a lot when watching funny scenes. Even though he can be annoying, he is very cheerful and brings happiness to our home.

I have two best friends, Jake and Oliver. Jake is thin and handsome. He is very outgoing and talkative. He tells great stories and makes everyone laugh. He is also friendly, so he has a lot of friends. He is never shy, and he enjoys meeting new people. He is also very generous and shares everything he has. He always helps me when I have a problem, and I really appreciate that.

Oliver, on the other hand, is shy and quiet. He doesn't talk much, but he is very hardworking and always gets good grades. He is never noisy, and he prefers reading books instead of playing loud games. He is also very punctual and never comes late to school. He is polite and always respects the teachers. PROJECT TIME

Make a presentation about the physical and character traits of 5 people around you (family, friends, etc.) and record it on video! Watch the videos with your friends in class!

Accepting the Differences is Important

Hi, I'm Emily, and I believe that everyone is unique in their own way. Some people are tall, and some are short. Some have curly hair, while others have straight hair. People have different skin colors, eye shapes, and body types. But that's what makes the world so interesting! Imagine how boring it would be if we all looked exactly the same.

It's not just about appearance. People also have different personalities. Some are funny and love to make jokes, while others are quiet and enjoy reading. Some are really good at sports, and others are amazing at drawing, singing, or playing musical instruments. There are also people who love solving math problems, while others enjoy writing stories. No one is exactly the same, and that's a good thing!

Diversity makes life more colorful and exciting. When we meet people who are different from us, we learn new things. We can share ideas, experiences, and skills. For example, my best friend loves painting, and I love writing. When we work together, she creates beautiful pictures, and I write stories to go with them. Our differences help us grow and improve.

It's also important to remember that everyone has their own strengths and weaknesses. Just because someone is different from you doesn't mean they are better or worse. We should respect each other and accept people for who they are. Instead of judging others, we should appreciate diversity and see it as something special.

Sometimes, people feel insecure because they don't look or act like others. But being different is not a bad thing—it's what makes us special. We should always be proud of who we are and never try to change just to fit in. True friends will appreciate and love us for who we are, not for how we look or what we do.

Being kind and accepting others for who they are is very important. After all, the world is a much better place when we respect and appreciate each other. So let's be proud of who we are and enjoy the beautiful variety around us. If we embrace our differences, we can create a world full of love, friendship, and happiness!

SPEAKING TIME

Do you think it's important to have diversity in the world? Why or why not? And have you ever met someone very different from you? What did you learn from them? Why do some people feel insecure about being different? How can we help them feel more confident? Share your ideas with your friends!

Interesting Facts About People Around the World

People around the world are very different from each other. They come from many different countries, speak various languages, and have unique customs. One of the most interesting things about people is how they look and act in different parts of the world.

In Japan, many people are known for their polite and respectful nature. They bow when they greet each other, which is a sign of respect. Their clothing is also unique, with many people wearing traditional clothes like kimono during special events.

In contrast, people in Brazil are often known for being very friendly and energetic. They enjoy dancing and celebrating festivals like Carnival. You can usually see them smiling and having fun with friends and family. Their colorful clothes at festivals reflect their lively spirit.

In Northern Europe, people in countries like Sweden and Finland are known for being calm and reserved. They might not smile as much when they meet strangers, but they are very kind once you get to know them. They also love spending time in nature, especially in the forests and by lakes.

In Kenya, people often wear bright and colorful clothes, especially during celebrations. They are known for being strong and determined, and many are passionate about sports like running. Their welcoming attitude makes visitors feel at home.

In Mexico, people are known for their warm and family-oriented culture. They celebrate many festivals throughout the year, including Day of the Dead (Día de los Muertos), where families honor their ancestors. Mexican food, like tacos and burritos, is loved all over the world for its delicious flavors and variety.
